

Atticus Pharma Announces Upcoming Late-Breaking Presentation of Collaborative Research at the 82nd Annual SID 2025

GREENVILLE, SC, UNITED STATES, May 5, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Atticus Pharma Inc, a therapeutics company focused on immunodermatology and associated conditions, today announced the presentation of pre-clinical results in a novel murine model of cutaneous lupus. The poster presentation, co-authored by researchers from University of Pennsylvania Perelman School of Medicine, the Philadelphia VA Medical Center, Zylo Therapeutics and Atticus Pharma, will be made at the 2025 Annual Meeting of the Society for Investigational Dermatology, taking place May 7-10, in San Diego, California.

The presentation highlights collaborative research contributing to Atticus's ATC-001 product candidate for cutaneous lupus erythematosus, now entering IND-enabling studies, with pre-clinical models and expertise from the University of Pennsylvania and the Philadelphia VAMC and under the guidance of Victoria Werth, M.D.
